

Did England become Protestant in the 16th Century?	R	A	G		R	A	G
K1a – You will know that Martin Luther as key individual in reformation				K4a – You will know she reversed her brother's changes
K1b – You will know the difference in beliefs on transubstantiation				K4b – You will know she was a devout Catholic married to Philip of Spain
K1c – You will know the difference in the way churches are set out				K4c – You will know why she became known as 'Bloody Mary'
K1d – You will know the difference in the role and position of the priest				K4d – You will know about the persecution of Protestants
K1e – You will know the difference over the translation of the bible				K4e – You will know that her mother was Catherine of Aragon
K2a – You will know that Henry divorced Catherine of Aragon				K5a – You will know that Elizabeth sought a middle way
K2b – You will know that Henry married Anne Boleyn and had Elizabeth with her				K5b – You will know that he was a protestant
K2c – You will know that Henry dissolved the monasteries				K5c – You will know that she allowed aspects of the Catholic religion to survive
K2d – You will know that the Monks were breaking their vows				K5d – You will know that her mother was Anne Boleyn
K2e – You will know that Henry broke from the Pope's authority making himself head of the church in England				K5e – You will know that she was the last in the Tudor dynasty
K3a – You will know that Edward removed paintings and statues
K3b – You will know that he revered his father and tried to simulate him
K3c – You will know that he was influenced by advisors
K3d – You will know he was still a child whilst king
K3e – You will know his mother was Jane Seymour							